AMOY NOTES.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

MARVELLOUS WEATHER. AMOY, September 3,

Seldom have we been favoured with such a fine August: no typhoon signals for t month, and uninterrupted sunny weather, with rain at rare intervals. . Indeed, we need rain, for our wells show signs of giving out, and unless some heavy min falls in this month or next, we may have to face a water famine during the winter. Even the usual monsoon has fallen light, and we have far less wind than we ought to have so that the heat in the daytime is intense, and at night too the atmosphere is stifling and breathless. Surely we cannot go on much longer without a change in the weather, and without having some welcome cloudy days and heavy rain,

. THE HEALTH OF THE PORT. Luckily the fine weather is responsible for the good health of the port, for there is so far an absence of serious disease both among foreigners and Chinese. The plague has passed us by, and the embarge against us by Hongkong and Singapore, aco., i now once again removed. There has been less plague among the Chinese this year than for a great many years past, so let us hope its virulence is over, and we may look for a cycle of years with less and less plague. Other epidemic diseases, such as cholers and dysentery, are conspicuous by their absonce this year, unlike last year when they carried off such large numbers. So the large amount of sunshine and the lack of min have been most beneficial. Should no floods come this autumn, there is every hope of a bumper crop of rice while other produce such as sugar-cane indigo, sweet-potatoes, &c., are also likely to yield above the average.

BUILDING ACTIVITY. Kulangsu is still showing the marks of much building scrivity, for not only are houses in foreign style going up rapidly, but many are being built for the Chin ese also. To provide for the foundations and other parts of these houses much stone is needed, and the large granite rocks that are such a conspicuous feature of the landscape on Kulangsu are being demolished to provide the necessary stone. Certainly the Amoy granite is a magnificent build ing material, and there are hundreds of less favoured places that would be mightly glad to obtain such hard fine-looking stone for their houses." To anyone who visits the island after an interval of five or ten years, the change in the appearance of the landstape is simply astonishing. Even in the short time since it became an International Settlement a score or more of foreign houses have been built, and more are pro' jected, and many of these new houses are now inhabited by Chinese, while many older houses have been bought by rich Chinamen for their own use. AMOY CITY.

There was a time, when the city of Amoy was called the dirtiest in Chins, Hongkong for the WESTERN though even in those days I fancy the ASSURANCE COMPANY, we are prethere must have been other cities at least Ohinese risks at current rates. as dirty. But the improvement during the last few years is immense, thanks to the greater care in supervision taken by the more recent Mandarins. There is up adequato police force la suitable uniform : A band of scavengers daily at work; the streets are made wider by the removal of shop obstructions : and renerally speaking it is not such a purgatorial punishment as it once was to walk through the streets. dare say there are still out of the way penetrated, and where garbage and dirt still reign supreme, but certainly the main streets are cleaner than ever before. number of new shops have been opened, and look quite bright and clean and at tractive. Doubtless the number of people returning from the Straits to live here bring new ideas and help to modernise the that hath shall be given. The wireless room of the Indomitable is closed not only to the public, but to the ship's company other than the staff told off Lion wireless duties and and and with whon the ship is at sea disputching and aiving messages the conductor or stay leading from the wireless room to the mast glows with violet light and crackles confindously like a string of thorns on fire. Withless has made great progress in the Navy during the last two years. The fresh young brains of the torpedo lieutenants have grappled with the difficulties of interruption and of unfavourable atmospheric conditions. The result is that to-day the Admiralty can talk to Malta or to any ship within a radius of a couple of thousand miles. The Admiral at sea cannot talk back at the Admirality as far as that, but he has complete control of communications throughout a circle with the diameter of 1,200 miles. It is whispered that recent wireless discoveries have completely surmounted to Dany's Offices, Sr. Grond's Building naval purposes difficulties still encountered by the commercial companies. The effect of wireless is to turn naval war into chess with the ocean for a board. Dreadnoughts for queens, Invincibles for castles and bishops, and two old men in upper rooms at their respective Admiralties as players.

One of the chief objects of the Invincible class is to give the Commander-in-Chief the power of finding out what the enemy is doing without losing a ship. Indomitables are to a fleet what whiskers are to a cat. The eyes of a fleet are its large armoured. cruisers, not the small ones-that is why the policy of the Admiralty hitherto has been to build larger cruisers than other nutions. If an enemy's cruiser of secondary value is scouting she is practically lost if sighted by an armoured cruiser, if the Intter is well commanded.

WHAT THE GIANT CRUINERS DO. The great speed of the Indomitables confers the power of concentrating on the of electing Office-b arers for the ensuing enemy's van. If he turns away it is a great strategical advantage to be able to turn the enemy off the course he is trying 1133 to take. The engine-room of the Indomitable is interesting from its small size. ow temperature, cleanliness and absence of noise when the machinery is at work. By the system of electric fans the temperature is little above that of the ex-

> Were the fans to stop the thermome. ter would rise to 150deg. Fah. Were this entastrophe to happen the engineer officers, artificers and stokers could not endure longer periods of duty than half an hour at a time. Top speed in the Indomitable is a difficult operation, and strains the stamina and endurance of the whole of the engineering stuff, although the oil fuel boilers are fed by turning a tap. The three chief points to note in the Indomitable are first, the gunnery power more than twice as great as that of the pre-Dreadnought battleships; accordly the high speed that was only equalled by torpedo destroyers before the advent of the present Board of Admiralty; and thirdly, the mysterious and efficient apparatus for the collection and despatch of information from the nire and The Invincible, Inflexible, and Indomitable may be distinguished from the Dreadnoughts by the two tripod masts far apart, and the three funnels between them. The Lord Nelson and Agamemnon, now, lying astern of the Tomeraire, are very powerful vessels, enrrying, four 12-inch guns and ten 9.2, with five torpedo tubes and smaller guns. The funnels of the Lord Nelson look short because the quick-firing guns are mounted on high platforms. The target thus presented to the enemy is larger than in ships of the Dreadnought type. The Lord Nelson and Agamemnon i a remarkable for their armour protection. The belt-amidahips is an inch thicker than the Dreadnought's thickest belt. IN CERMAN STEEL BETTER

> With half the world's tonnage flying the Red Ensign the safety of the trade routes of the world is a question of bread and butter for London. Dreadnoughts and Indomitables are wanted for other purposes than convoy. The day of convoy, indeed, is over, as it is unlikely that in the event of war with a Northern Power the enemy would squander his, cruisers on commerce destroying. Britain controls the five stra-tegic centres of the world—Straits of Dover, Straits of Gibralter, Cape of Good Hope, Straits of Malacca, and the Suez Canal. The danger of the sea-borne trade of the British Empire is not therefore from hostile cruisers, which cannot keep the sea

COLD BLOODED TRAGEDY AT MACAO.

Commandant of the Monte Fort Assassinated.

(From Our Own Correspondent). Macao, September 6.

Captain Isaac Maria Pinto, commanding the Artillery Corps at Monte Fort, was shot at midday by a privite of his Company. The unfortunate officer was busy at Innum-Tonkin, a newspaper published at his writing table when the assailant, who Haiphong, says that British traders profit had been folling about the guard room close by, having just gone off duty, calmly walked out of the place with his rifle and getting near to where his superior officer sat poring over certain, papers, coolly first expedition to North Greenland, again levelled the weapon at the unsuspecting man and fired. The shot passed clean through the temples. Medical aid forthwith summoned to the scene but proved unavailing and close on 2 p.m. the victim breathed his last.

The murderer is said to be of unsound mind. He is not known to have ever in curred the displeasure of his chief beyond a remark made half in jest a couple of days ago when Captain Pinto threstened to have him kept four days on bread and water if he did not keep his fingers off the flower beds. After the deed he surrendered without a murmur and was as mock as a child. loceased took up his late post in the middle of January last, being transferred here from Angola, and was two months from the expiry of his oversea term of service. He was of a quiet, retiring disposition, and about 39 years of age. He leaves a widow who is at H. me. The funeral takes place tomorrow afternoon...

FOOTBALL NOTES.

As at Home, so in our little Colony, th advent of September means the routing ou of one's football equipment in preparation for the strauous games which will fought out in succeeding months. With the temperature still uncomfortably high there is aleady a flutter in the dovecotes, and players us almost impatiently awaiting the commencement of hostilities.

The season of 1909-10 should see the high-water mark reached in local football For the first time in the history of the Colony we are to have the game placed or * really organised footing. The days gone by there has been absolutely no controlling body to see that law and order are observed but with the creation of Hongkong Footbal Association matters will be totally different.

In the first place, all clubs will find local magnate. it a necessity to become affiliated to the Association, for it will be a strictly observed rule that, unless permission be granted, an affiliated club will be heavily penalised should it arrange encounters with a club which is unaffiliated. As the best Clubs in the Colony have already linked themselves up with the newly-formed Association it vill be seen that those who stay without the pale will have a decidedly tame and lifeless season to face." Then too, the Association will be performing good work for football by making it compulsory for all referees in League games to pass an examination which will constitute them official referces. Not only will this mean that a capable body of referees will be ensured but these officials will have the Association at their backs should occasions arise when it will become necessary to order a min off the field.

Failure to chey the referee's rulings will mean that the offender will be reported to the Association, who will have the power to punish the deliuquent. Thus for the lion vet. first time in the football history of Hongkong will some real check be imposed on players who constantly lay themselves ont to commit dirty tactics. In numerous other ways, too, the Association will prove to be of the utmost value; indeed, one wonders how we have so far managed to muddle through without such a body.

Another point which should make for had one day of great good fun in the the further copularising of the game is that witness chair, where he poked fun at most this season the Hongkong Club will make people with the air of a man quite enjoying its appearance in the League. It was a regrottable circumstance that last year they held themselves aloof from the then newlyformed Leagus, but one season's experience of the desumbility of such a competition them to promise to print them in their fellows in distress rither than waste it in have proved beyond all doubt that it was report of the proceedings. That annoyed just the thing required to quicken interest him and he wrote a rather cocky letter to in the popular pastime. There is I gather, every indication of a very big entry of teams in the League Indeed, the idea has been mooted of the feasibility of dividing the competition into two sections, just in the same manner as the English League at Home. There is such a disparity between the various teams the Colony that this suggestion has much to commend it. To be satisfactorily and fairly worked there should be a provision made for the two leading teams in the Second Division securing promotion in the succeeding season to the First Division. and in like manner for the two lowliest slubs in the First Division to drop into the Second. If such an arrangement could be come to it would. I think, lead to far better games than we often see, for it would mean that the opposing teams would be far more evenly matched than has been the case in days gone by However, that will be a matter for the League officials to decide at

The Navy Department at Washington is said to be greatly incensed over the action of an Italian training ship that was caught spying on the American fleet. The ship was overhauled by battleships on the target range where she had taken station and was watching the firing of the American ships. The officers of the U.S. navy are at least, a flagrant breach of international etiquetto and the incident is much talked of throughout official circles.
